

WCM Quality Global Growth Fund (Quoted Managed Fund) (ASX:WCMQ)

INVESTMENT UPDATE

31 July 2019

PORTFOLIO UPDATE

The portfolio achieved a positive performance of 1.53%, marginally under the broader market movement during the month of July 2019, with the benchmark MSCI All Country World (ex-Australia) Index returning 2.22%.

Global equity markets edged higher in July, a month in which the S&P 500 index reached another all-time high in the US, with the S&P 500 and the NASDAQ up a remarkable 17% and 22% respectively year to date. US equities have been the primary driver of the outperformance of developed markets versus their emerging market peers.

July provided plenty of macroeconomic and political news for investors to ponder. As expected, the Federal Reserve announced its first interest rate cut since the financial crisis over 10 years ago, Christine Lagarde was nominated as the next leader of the European Central Bank and Boris Johnson became the UK's prime minister.

Second quarter economic growth data in China signalled a slowing in activity, while manufacturing data in the US and Germany remained weak. This slowing growth and lower interest rate environment contributed to the sustained outperformance of the less economically sensitive growth and quality sectors (e.g. technology) during the month.

The best performing stocks in the portfolio for the month came from a number of different sectors. These included UK foodservice company Compass Group, the world's largest manufacturer of discrete semiconductor devices Taiwan Semiconductor, US building materials firm Sherwin Williams, and pharmaceutical packaging firm West Pharmaceutical Services.

The importance of valuation to an equity manager's investment process is a topical one at present. The continued outperformance of growth versus value style investing has led many market commentators to suggest that we are approaching the next market bubble.

The bubble case rests on the view that the valuation the market is attributing to certain growth sectors cannot be justified in the context of their future growth prospects. So, what role does valuation play in the investment process behind the WCM Quality Global Growth strategy?

The key criteria for all candidates in this strategy is an expanding economic moat. Actual inclusion in the portfolio hinges on the extent to which WCM's view of this positive moat trajectory differs from that of the market. Valuation is one input to measuring this inefficiency, which the WCM team is seeking to exploit.

INVESTMENT UPDATE

Moat trajectory is also the key driver of sell decisions in the strategy. If the investment team can no longer make the case that a company's moat is expanding, it no longer qualifies for inclusion in the portfolio. Valuation is one input in decisions to add to or trim from existing positions.

HOW INVESTMENTS ARE CHOSEN FOR THIS PORTFOLIO

WCM's two key criteria for any company to be considered for inclusion in the WCM Quality Global Growth Strategy are 1) a rising competitive advantage (or expanding economic moat) and 2) a corporate culture that supports the expansion of this moat. WCM believes the direction of a company's economic moat is of more importance than its absolute width or size.

Their research therefore is focused on identifying those companies with a positive moat trajectory as measured by a rising return on invested capital (ROIC) as opposed to those with a large but static or declining moat. WCM also strongly believes that corporate culture is a key determinant of a firm's ability to achieve a consistently growing moat. WCM has developed a proprietary approach to analysing corporate culture and has investment team members solely dedicated to this part of their process.
